Delta Corporate Services

Solving Business Problems Through Technology

Information Security

Delta Corporate Services has dedicated itself to providing comprehensive information security services that include technical diligence, as well as going beyond the world of servers and the Internet. In addition, the roles of individuals throughout the organization, the supporting plans, management, structure, policies, and behaviors required to maintain the highest level of defense are addressed. Delta's services equally address the proper methods to prepare for and address incidents, if they occur in a manner that minimizes negative impact.

Delta's security practice is compliant with industry best practices and our security specialists are trained and experienced with the methodologies and techniques espoused by the International Information Security System Certification Consortium (ISCC2). Our Certified Information System Security Professionals (CISSP) ensure the highest level of proficiency and state of the art capabilities.

Excellence

Delta's approach to information security assures compliance with federal and commercial requirements by addressing the complete information security picture – the plans, management, organizational structure, policies, and behaviors required to provide the appropriate level of defense and response. Our security specialists are trained and experienced in the approaches and techniques promoted by federal and international standards and regulations, including FISMA requirements and NIST standards and guidelines.
